INJUNCTION AGAINST SPORE.

Facts as set forth in the petition of Pearl and Potter.

There is a novel injunction suit being tried before a jury in the Fifty-fifth district court, Judge Wilson presiding, styled E. W. Pearl and A. Potter vs. Roy Spore. The plaintiffs allege in their petition that on March 3, 1897, they bought a stock of bicycle sundries of little value from the defendant, but for which, with "other considerations," they paid $450, alleging that the "other considerations" were agreed upon by the parties, and that the sale was made, that they would not enter into the bicycle business in Houston for one year, nor take employment from any one who should engage in the bicycle business during the twelve months.

They allege that the defendant has wholly failed to fulfill this agreement and has since the 20th day of August, 1897, been employed by Messrs. Bros. in a large bicycle shop, recently established next door to their shop on Texas avenue, and that by such failure on the part of the defendant they were damaged to the extent of $500, and they also seek for an injunction restraining the defendant from working further in the bicycle business.

Roy Spore answered by denying that he was violating the contract, and filed a cross bill praying for $500 damages, which he claims he has sustained by the persecution of the plaintiffs, which, he says, made him lose a position paying $35 a week.

The first hearing of the case was on Monday, when the injunction was

HOUSTON QUARANTINE RESTRICTIONS BEING ENFORCED.

Four Detentions Were Made Yesterday and the Subjects Are Being Thoroughly Fumigated.

Mayor Rice announces that the city's camps of detention at the crossing of the Houston East and West Texas and International and Great Northern and at the crossing of the Houston and Texas Central and the Missouri, Kansas and Texas are in first-class working order, and that the rules of quarantine are being enforced more rigidly than ever. There seems to be a procession of tramps headed towards Houston, all of whom expect to find work here. The guards at the stations complain that they come from the cane fields of Louisiana and when questioned say they are going to Sugarland for employment.

There were four detentions at the International and Houston East and West Texas camp last night. C. E. Jones was taken from a Houston East and West Texas train, having been seven days out of Mobile, Ala. He had papers on his person which identified him holding the position of purchasing agent for the Mexican Central with headquarters at Beaumont, Texas.

PROBABLY HERE TODAY

HOUSTON IS PREPARING TO RECEIVE DR. GUTIERAS.

He Will Visit the Hospitals and Investigate the Character of Fevers Peculiar to This Section.

City Health Officer McElroy has returned from Galveston, where he had gone with Dr. John Gutieras, and he was seen in his office by a reporter for The Post yesterday.

Regarding the return of Dr. Gutieras to Houston and the reception to be tendered him, Dr. McElroy said it was not so much in his province to attend to the social feature of his entertainment as it was to attend to the business part.

He said he would assist Dr. Gutieras in his work, which would comprise a visit to St. Joseph's infirmary, a visit to Eva Dunsons' home and an examination of a number of cases of dengue fever; that the last was the real motive of Dr. Gutieras in coming to Texas, as the form of dengue prevailing at present has never before been known, the difference between that and the old dengue fever being that the former produces an eruption very much like that caused by the measles or scarlet fever, though the fever is not so high as in cases of the latter, fewer deaths resulting.

Dr. McElroy said that while in Galveston Dr. Gutieras visited the hospitals and made an examination of the mortuary records for 1896 and 1897, with a view of finding out to what the deaths were due; that he also visited a number of cases, but will make no report until he sees the surgeon general.

Dr. Gutieras will probably be in Houston today, but that he does not expect to stay later than Monday, as he is anxious to return to occupy his chair in the University of Pennsylvania, where he is professor of pathology.

They said they were going to Sugarland and that there are several more waiting at stations. One of the cars contains a quantity of household goods, while the others are filled with mixed merchandise. General Agent Booth of the International yesterday looked up the record of the cars and told a reporter for The Post last night that the billing showed that they came from Memphis, Tenn. The quarantine officers say, however, that the original point of shipment was New Orleans, for which reason they will keep the train in the city.

There are no inmates of the Katy-Central camp and no cars have been detained. The city will have the place connected by telephone today or tomorrow.

TALKING FOR HOUSTON

COL. W. A. CHILDRESS DISCUSSES THE COMING FESTIVAL.

He Will Name a Directory Today Upon His Arrival in the City.

His Crowds Expected.

San Antonio, Texas, October 7.—W. A. Childress, president of the Texas Fruit, Flowers and Vegetables Festival association of Houston, spent the day in this city and leaves for home tonight. To The Post correspondent Mr. Childress said:

"We hope to give an entertainment in Houston, December 6 to 11, inclusive, which will prove to the people of the entire country that Texas can produce fruits, flowers and vegetables for the winter market equal, if not superior, to California and Florida. We desire to increase the large immigration which has been coming to our portion of Texas."

"To put it stronger, we do not mean to rest on our laurels."

"We have not been hurt to any great extent by the yellow fever scare, but we feel that we must work all the harder to show the superior attractions of our section since the fever has come to Southern Texas. We are greatly desirous that the entertainment given be considered a State affair and the people of every portion of the State are cordially invited to participate."

"We want to get practical and lasting results from this artistic showing of Texas resources and we realize that there is no time to be lost. I will name the directory tomorrow if possible and certainly in time for publication in the Sunday papers."

"Several important towns in the fruit belt of the coast country have assured us of their co-operation and every indication points towards success. We expect a big delegation from San Antonio and you may depend upon a royal welcome. All the railroads leading into the State will be asked to give especially low rates and also to advertise the event."

"It is our desire to show at least 50,000 Texans and as many more from other States just what we can grow. You must come to see us in gala attire and see a spread of flowers, fruits and vegetables which will make you feel that you have stepped into the Garden of Eden."

BAD FOR THE DEFENSE.

Witnesses of Impeachment Numerous in the Luetger Trial.

Chicago, October 7.—It was a bad day for the defense. The evidence of two of the chief witnesses was almost destroyed.

Mary Simmering and William Charles, Luetger's business partner, were the sufferers. Witnesses after witnesses came on the stand and swore that when Mary Simmering had denied that she had admitted improper relations with Luetger she had not told the truth. They said she had admitted it and in the most unequivocal manner.

Most of these witnesses were members of the grand jury which indicted Luetger and their evidence was crushing. They all told the same story and the most desperate efforts of the defense could not shake one of them.

The crowd at the criminal court today was larger than upon any other meeting during the past week.

Mrs. Christine Feldt was in court today to contradict the evidence of Mrs. Mary Charles, related to rings worn by Mrs. Luetger. Mrs. Charles emphatically denied that she had ever asked Mrs. Feldt to wear the rings which had belonged to Luetger. Today Mrs. Feldt, with equal emphasis, denied that Mrs. Charles had requested her to deny that she ever saw the rings before. Mrs. Feldt refused to do so. She said today the rings were those worn by Mrs. Luetger; she was positive about it.

Judge Arthur H. Chetlain and ten members of the grand jury which indicted Luetger have been summoned by the prosecution to impeach Mary Simmering. When Mary was first arrested she was taken before Judge Chetlain on a writ of habeas corpus. In chambers she was released. It is said that she told Judge Chetlain certain things concerning her relations with Luetger, which she positively denied on the witness stand. When before the grand jury, Miss Simmering was closely questioned with reference to her associations with Luetger by State's Attorney Deenen the young woman made admission which she denied on the witness stand. Grand Jurors who heard the testimony are to be called to tell what they know. The prosecution is confident that this evidence will impeach the woman.

Witnesses from Kenosha, Wis., were called to the stand during the day to further impeach the witnesses for the defense, who testified to having seen Mrs. Luetger in the Wisconsin town on May 3, 4 and 5.

A horde of witnesses to impeach Wm. Charles, Luetger's business partner, were heard. Mr. Charles sat in the court room and listened to his reputation being assailed right and left. He heard his reputation for truth torn into ribbons and while these were flaunted in his face, his ears were greeted by the harsh tones of former business associates who questioned his integrity.

Alex Sweeney, Phillip Peitz, Wm. Spindler and others who had sustained business relations with Charles declared his reputation for truth bad. A number of the witnesses said that Charles still owed them money.

The State will close its case tomorrow. Judge Tutill will then adjourn until Monday. His honor will leave tomorrow for Nashville, where he will be orator of the day at the Tennessee Centennial exposition on Saturday. The trial will be resumed at 9:30 Monday morning with rebuttal evidence.

All the Officers Could Do to Prevent a Lynching at Newport—Ten of Them Identified.

Cincinnati, Ohio, October 7.—Angry crowds gathered about the court house and jail at Newport, Ky., today upon the announcement of a most shocking assault by eleven men on the young wife of a switchman recently married. The sheriff was obliged to clear the corridors and threats of vengeance were made.

Thomas Gleason and his wife started out the Alexandria pike to visit a friend last night, when two men with revolvers and representing themselves to be officers assaulted husband and wife and dragged the shrieking woman into a field, where eleven men assaulted her. The penalty for this crime in Kentucky is death. Today Mrs. Gleason positively identified six of the ten men who were arrested from her description. Eleven of the ruffians were brought to preliminary trial today and they were held to answer to the grand jury without bail. The regular jury meets October 12. Meantime, owing to the excited state of feeling and the insecurity of the jail, the men were ordered to be taken to Maysville this afternoon for safe-keeping. When the time came for the removal of the ten prisoners, one being still held for further identification, there was such a menacing crowd about the jail that the sheriff called out the entire police force to preserve order. It was with difficulty that the men were taken to the wagons which carried them to the depot. At the depot, before the train arrived, the situation grew more threatening. The police force finally had to charge the yelling crowd to prevent a rush for the prisoners. Fortunately the train soon came and the men were safely embarked.

The prisoners are aged from 14 to 30, mostly out of employment. Two or three are members of a gang of toughs well known to the police. The last one arrested and who is in jail awaiting identification is William Croxton. He will be brought before Mrs. Gleason tonight. The other ten were promptly recognized by Mrs. Gleason. The men exhibited the most reckless bravado, one or two being drunk while in the court room. They used vile language and displayed total indifference and unconcern.

Official advices received from Maysville say the ten identified assailants of Mrs. Gleason arrived safely and were securely jailed. The sheriff, with deputies and sub-policemen, are at Maysville. There are no visible symptoms of dangerous excitement in Maysville tonight. Wm. Croxton, who was detained at Newport, was identified by Mrs. Gleason tonight. He is in Newport jail, but will be taken to Maysville tomorrow.

INDIA REJECTS OVERTURES.

Will Not Open the Mines or Favor Free Silver Circulation.

New York, October 7.—A dispatch to the Herald from Paris says: The Herald is informed from a trustworthy source that the Indian government, in reply to a further pressing invitation by the English cabinet to consider Senator Wolcott's proposals, has answered that it can not reopen the question of the Indian currency, and it will not be a party to the reopening of the mines and it will not be a party to the free coinage of silver.

In well informed circles, adds the correspondent, it is not believed that Lord Salisbury's government will dare to override on this question the decision of the Indian government.

Peru Adopts the Gold Standard.

New York, October 7.—A special to the Herald from Lima, Peru, says: After a discussion which continued for several days, the chamber of deputies of Peru adopted the gold standard by a majority of one vote.

The plan for a gold standard was sent to the chamber some time ago, after it had been approved by the president and the cabinet. The cabinet believed it was the only possible solution of the financial troubles which beset Peru on every side.

There was a long fight over the question in the chamber, the government's supporters arraying themselves unanimously in favor of the gold standard. The narrow majority of their victory shows how persistently the question was contested.

Bimetallite Monetary Conference.

London, October 7.—The prediction made in the dispatches of the Associated Press of last Saturday to the effect that Great Britain's answer to the bimetallite proposals would be delayed has been confirmed. Arrangements have now been made to hold an informal conference between the chancellor of the exchequer, Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, and other British officials on the one side, and the United States monetary commissioners and Colonel Hay, the United States ambassador, on the other for the purpose of securing a more definite understanding as to what the United States government will be unable to fulfill the promise of the chancellor of the exchequer to give the United States commissioners a reply during the present month and the delay will last some weeks.

Believed to Be Dead.

Telluride, Colo., October 7.—There is scarcely room for doubt that Colonel S. L. Smith, Indian agent at Price, Utah, for the Uncompagnie Indians and correspondent for the Associated Press, was a victim of the wreck on the Denver and Rio Grande railroad near Newcastle on the 10th of the month. Mrs. George Shoemaker of this city, daughter of Colonel Smith, received news from her father the day before the wreck occurred, stating he would leave Denver for Salt Lake on the ill-fated train, and nothing whatever has been heard concerning him since.
